1.1 Definitions

“Specification” means whether in paper or electronic format. Any OPTA supplied supporting information or data in whatever medium in connection with the specification are also referred to collectively as the specification.

To “modify” the specification means adaption or other transformations.

1.2 License Granted

All rights granted under this License are granted for the term of copyright and are irrevocable provided the stated conditions are met.

You may reproduce, distribute, exhibit and communicate the Specification to the public.

Modifications of the Specification are solely allowed for implementation of your individual or proprietary software products or services and for bundling the Specification with your individual or proprietary software.

Under no circumstances may you modify the Specification itself (except for implementation or bundling as stated above), develop a new standard or specification from the Specification, or state or imply that any of your works, products, or services based on the Specification are endorsed or approved by OPTA.

You must reference, in a commercially reasonable location, that the Specification is used in connection with your applicable products or services, in part or in whole, whether modified or not, and subject to the terms of this License. You may include truthful and accurate statements about your use of the Specification.

You must include the OPTA copyright notice in connection with any use of the Specification. Any uses of the OPTA name and trademarks are subject to the terms of this License and to prior review and approval by OPTA.

Any exploitation of the Specification divergent to the License will automatically terminate your rights under this License. However, if you cease all violation of this License, the License is reinstated (a) provisionally, unless and until the OPTA explicitly and finally terminates your license, and (b) permanently, if OPTA fails to notify you of the violation by some reasonable means prior to 60 days after the cessation.

1.3 No Warranty

OPLA provides the specification “as is” without warranty of any kind, either expressed or implied, including but not limited to, the implied warranties of merchantability and fitness for a particular purpose. The entire risk as to the quality and performance of the specification is with you, except in case of fraudulent concealment of a failure by OPTA.

1.5 No Update Obligation

OPTA is not obliged to provide updates, revisions or information about any development or action affecting the Specification
